

The logo for NAOS, with 'NAOS' in white text on a blue background. The letter 'O' is stylized as a yellow crescent moon.

FROM INNER TO OUTER CHANGE

London Diploma in Psychosexual and Relationship Therapy

Postgraduate Certificate in Clinical Sexology

A high impact, 6-day training, blending self-directed distance learning with live and participatory skills training, open to qualified individual counsellors, psychotherapists and other mental health professionals.

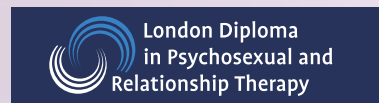

Couples therapists may particularly benefit from the programme.

Over the past decade psychosexual therapy (often referred to as clinical sexology) has emerged as a discipline in its own right, working with distinct competencies, a different role for the therapist, its own terminologies and definitions, and its own theoretical body. This stand-alone course aims to provide participants with an integrated framework combining the psychosocial and cultural aspects of sex therapy with the physiological underpinnings of sexual medicine in managing a wide variety of sexual concerns. The curriculum is designed to prepare established professionals in applying a multidisciplinary approach to the knowledge and understanding of sexual function, identity, and expression.

A key strength of the programme is the integration of therapeutic skills with both individuals and dual intimate systems, with medical concepts and treatment approaches to achieve the best outcomes for working with sexual issues. The programme is designed for healthcare professionals seeking to expand their sexual medicine and counselling practices and for psychotherapists to increase their understanding of the medical foundations. We explore ways of effectively collaborating with medical professionals to coordinate and identify strategies, undertake assessments, become familiar with protocols, and to allow for onward referral as appropriate.

Postgraduate Certificate in Clinical Sexology

Upon successful completion – which includes an assessed 3500 word research project – course participants will receive the Postgraduate Certificate in Clinical Sexology awarded by the London Diploma in Psychosexual and Relationship Therapy and the NAOS Institute and further approved by NCP, the National Council for Psychotherapy and COSRT, the College for Sexual and Relationship Therapists.

Dates

Friday to Sunday 24-26 September 2021, 9.30-16.30 hrs, via zoom
Friday to Sunday 22-24 October 2021, 9.30-16.30 hrs, via zoom

Delivery

Course participants will be provided with an extensive course manual comprising preparatory material, journal articles, power point presentations and resource guides. The in-class teaching seminars offer opportunities for skills practice, case studies and live supervision.

Faculty

Judi Keshet-Orr

www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk/judi

Bernd Leygraf

www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk/bernd

Dr Nisha Shah

www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk/nisha

Jean Miller

www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk/jean

Dr Joanne Collins

www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk/joanne

Dr Marcus Sorensen

www.naos-institute.com/about-us/marcus-sorensen

Dr Wafaa Eltantawy

www.drwafaa.com

Indicative Course Content

An understanding of psychosexual issues related to anatomy and physiology, endocrinology, mental health issues, psychopharmacology, culture, diversity, neuroscience in relation to gender and sexual orientation, organic and non-organic sexual dysfunctions and relational aspects.

Accreditation

NCP: 42 hours CPD

COSRT: 42 hours CPD

For a substantial two year training in psychosexual and relationship therapy, accredited by Middlesex University, COSRT, NCS and NCP see www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk.

For a full one year training in couples therapy, see www.naos-institute.com

Fees

£1390.00 payable in 2 instalments, one upon acceptance into the programme and the second before 24th September 2021

Enquiries

Bernd Leygraf: 07414 681 553

Or email info@naos-institute.com

For further course details

www.naos-institute.com/training/or

www.psychosexualtraining.org.uk

Course application form

www.naos-institute.com/application-form